

REAL WOMEN - unheard stories

published by Shakti Women's Aid

REAL WOMEN - unheard stories brings into focus the realities of life for women from ethnic minorities who are caught up in domestic abuse and those who endeavour to help them. It highlights issues such as honour based violence, forced marriage, no recourse to public funds and extreme isolation.

These testimonies, transcribed and edited from recorded interviews, illustrate how courage, resilience and the support of committed workers can lift the veil of silence that domestic abusers hide behind and empower women to build new lives for themselves and their children free from abuse, violence and oppression.

The proceeds from the sale of this book will go to women and children supported by Shakti.
